About Me

Hello, my name is Trach and I am a senior at the University of Florida. I have a strong passion for sports and writing, and love to combine the two. I also love helping and serving others, and do a lot of volunteer work in my free time. This has consisted of me volunteering as a YoungLife Capernaum leader, where I minister to kids with disabilities in Gainesville. I am also a board member of Do It For Hunter, a mental health organization that advocates for suicide prevention and mental wellness.
